

Area LEADERS encouraging EMPLOYEE GIVING to the arts

"American Fidelity is proud to join Allied Arts in the effort to enhance our community's quality of life. From our corporate donation to our company-wide Colleague-giving campaign, American Fidelity believes in increasing access to the arts for our children and underserved segments of our community. Through our investment in Allied Arts, we are helping make arts for all possible."

Tom McDaniel – President, American Fidelity Foundation

"Organizations like Allied Arts are important to the fabric of Oklahoma City, enhancing our quality of life and promoting economic development. At Devon, we support the arts in a variety of ways – through volunteerism, patronage, and financial contributions. We see support for the arts as an important ingredient in a strong local business environment which, in turn, promotes greater prosperity across the entire community."

Dave Hager – President and Chief Executive Officer

"Allied Arts not only makes the arts more accessible to our community, it offers programs that help heal and make a difference for people in need. That's why Chesapeake supports Allied Arts and celebrates its creativity and innovation. From our annual workplace giving campaign to our employees who volunteer and serve on its board, we are proud to help fuel our community through this important organization."

Doug Lawler – President, Chief Executive Officer and Director

"Tapstone Energy is a proud donor to Allied Arts. The company successfully launched its first employee-giving campaign in 2017 and has been recognized as one of Allied Arts' top ten workplace giving campaigns during the past two years. Tapstone supports the arts due to the impact on communities by creating a catalyst for creativity, discovery, healing and enjoyment. Through our commitment to Allied Arts, we are helping ensure that the vibrant arts community in Oklahoma continues to thrive, making the state a better place to live, work and innovate."

Steven C. Dixon -- Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer, Tapstone Energy

"The arts define creativity and innovation within a community and an individual. OGE supports the arts to demonstrate our belief in the ability of individuals and communities to rise to their fullest potential."

Sean Trauschke – Chairman, President and CEO

"As business owners, we wanted to cultivate an appreciation for the arts among our employees without creating an obligation to participate. The Allied Arts team members were great thought-partners in helping us innovate a program tailored for our company's culture. To our surprise, we had 100% participation last year and we get regular feedback about how much our employees enjoy giving back and participating in Allied Arts opportunities."

Jim Kessler – Managing Partner, Candor
